

Qapsin ki?in ?aqaxuniyam

What would a healthy community look like?

THE KNC- TRADITIONAL KNOWLEDGE & LANGUAGE (TKL) ADVISORY GROUP INVITE YOU TO A CEREMONIAL RECOGNITION

When: Tuesday, May 14, 2019, 5:30pm to 8:30pm

Where: KNC Gym, 220 Cranbrook Street North, Cranbrook

Who: Ktunaxa citizens of all ages from all communities are invited to attend the ceremonial recognition, hosted by the TKL Advisory Group and organized by the xaxqana? ?itkini? (Many Ways of Working Together) research team

What: The ceremonial recognition will include a shared meal as well as a traditional celebration of the xaxqana? ?itkini? project report. We will distribute copies of the project report including the 'Ktunaxa Model of Wellness', which were developed based on Ktunaxa citizens' input during community gatherings in Fall 2018.

Why: This is part of a larger research partnership between Ktunaxa Nation and Interior Health that establishes relationships and protocols for co-learning activities related to health.

If you are unable to attend and would like a copy of the final report, or if you have any questions or concerns, please contact our research coordinator, Alex Kent

Email: alexkent@uvic.ca

Phone: (604)316-2286

The xaxqana? ?itkini? Research Team:

Dr. Christopher Horsethief

chorsethief@ktunaxa.org

Dr. Sana Shahram

sana.shahram@interiorhealth.ca

Dr. Bernie Pauly

bpauly@uvic.ca

Hereditary Chief Sophie Pierre

mail@smpierre.ca

Ms. Leslie Bryant

leslie.bryant@interiorhealth.ca

Ms. Alex Kent

alexkent@uvic.ca

This project is funded by the Canadian Institutes of Health Research— Institute of Indigenous Peoples' Health and has received research ethics approval from the Ktunaxa Nation Council Research Ethics Committee, the Interior Health Research Ethics Board, and the University of Victoria Research Ethics Board. The Traditional Knowledge and Language working group provides advisory oversight to guide this project.